MANTLE GOING EAST

He's Done His Duty by Hartman, So Bryan is Next.

WILL WORK IN MICHIGAN

Charlie Lane Tells What the Butte Boys Are Doing in Chicago and Vicinity—They're Right in It.

Senator Lee Mantle left yesterday for the East to work for Bryan for the balance of the campaign. Mr. Mantle is in the hands of the bimetallic association, which is working in conjunction with Chairman Jones. It has been decided to have Mr. Mantle spend his time in Northern Michigan principally among the miners, many of whom are of English birth as is Mr. Mantle.

"It is a matter of deep regret with me," said Mr. Mantle, "that I could not have started earlier. But this is the first that it has been possible for me to get away. I considered it my duty as chairman of the silver republicans of Montana to see that Hartman's name was surely on the ticket, the silver republicans being the only ticket on which Mr. Hartman's name appears. I was a witness in the examination before the court, and had I not been here to give my testimony the name of Hartman might not have appeared on the ticket. This has been finally settled and I shall spend the remaining few days of the campaign in the East. I have received very urgent requests to deliver speeches in Livingston, Jefferson county, Cascade county and other portions of the state, but I consider it most important to do what little I can in the East, and I start at once."

J. H. Leyson has received the following letter from Charles Lane, who is now working in Chicago for the Bryan and Sewall club of Butte:

"Just a line to say that your representatives of the Bryan and Sewall club are hard at work. We are placed in the very thickest of the fight, and are doing all we can to the common end. When we arrived here we were placed under the direction of the county committee, and have each of us been talking until the number of speeches we have made begins to number pretty high.

"Breen filled an engagement for Senator Stewart last night at Stretcher, a few miles from Chicago. The senator was unable to go and Breen was selected in his stead. Gilligan is slated to speak from the same platform with President Bryan when he makes his last appeal to the voters of Chicago, and your humble servant is to divide with Governor Altgeld the honors at Pullman to-morrow. The people here cheer Montana with a splendid will. We have been told that our state has done and is doing more than any five states in the union for the cause."

"SIDE TRACKED."

To-Morrow Night the Play Will Be on at the Auditorium.

Generosity has made fame and fortune for many. Jule Walters' success as a tramp is known all over the world. After a remarkable week's business in Chicago with "Side Tracked," Mr. Walters and his company departed for the depot. The train being late, the company concluded to patronize the lunch counter. At this moment a vagabond appeared. Seeing the genial Jule, he approached him and said: "Are you de tramp in 'Side Tracked'?" Jule remarked, "I am," when he said: "Boss, yer makeup is great, but yer hair's set de hancherchief." Everybody smiled as the vagabond pulled forth a greasy, dirty, well-worn red bandana and said, "Boss, I'm broke. Yer can buy dis fer $1 and it will make a hit." Jule generously handed the bum two eagles. He accepted the rag, and now refuses to make his first entrance without it. "Side Tracked" will appear for three nights at the Auditorium, commencing Monday night.

DIED.

E. C. O'Donnell of Kallispell, Mrs. Berta and an infant.

E. C. O'Donnell died rather suddenly yesterday morning from pneumonia. He was taken sick on Monday, but partially recovered, so that he was able to be about on Thursday. His exposure brought about a relapse and death ensued in less than 48 hours. Mr. O'Donnell formerly practiced law at Kallispell, and is also said to have been judge of the district court at one time. He had some trouble with his wife about four months ago and left her and came to Butte accompanied by his 17-year-old son, who is a stenographer. The Masonic lodge at Kallispell, of which he was a member, has been notified of his death, and the body will probably be shipped there for burial.

Mrs. Romona Berta, wife of Edward F. Berta, of the Monroes addition, died yesterday from typhoid fever. She was 29 years old.

John, the infant son of Thomas Webber, of No. 34 Missoula avenue, died yesterday.

POWDER MAGAZINES.

Work on One of Them Is Well Under Way—Good Buildings.

Work on three of the four powder magazines that are being built at the new site on the B. A. & P. beyond Silver Bow, is well under way. The foundations are in and a large force of masons is at work on the walls. The buildings will be finished in 10 days and after that it will take about two weeks for them to dry out so that they can be used. They are being built in first-class style and to comply with the law in every respect, and it is expected that they will be in use by the middle of November. The magazines that are being built are those of the Giant Powder company, the Repauno Chemical company and the California Powder Works. The Judson Powder company has not started to build its magazine and it is not known definitely whether or not it proposes to build at the new site. The magazines are a safe distance from the main line of the B. A. & P., and a sidetrack has been built to them.

WORKING HOURS.

Those Who Have Friends East May Send Them Silver Literature.

The time for missionary work in the East is short. The active workers are in the field. Those who remain in Montana can do little now to help the cause along except to send silver literature back East. Those having friends and relatives back East who might be influenced will be supplied with silver literature by the Bryan and Sewall club. The secretary of the club will be at the headquarters, No. 12 North Wyoming street, to-day from 10 a. m. to 5 o'clock p. m., and will supply literature free of charge to those who will send it to friends back East.

"Thought It Was a Fire Alarm."

A clanging gong causes excitement in East Park street. The loud clanging of a gong in East Park street at intervals yesterday caused a great many people to look around for the fire department. The gong was not attached to the apparatus of the department, however, but occupied a place over the door of Nash's tailoring and gents' furnishing establishment. It is connected with his patent cash register and sounds a welcome alarm at every fifteenth purchase as it indicates that the purchase is free. The gong came from Chicago and can be heard for blocks.

Dull Business in London.

Judge Speer Naturalizes About 50 First Paper Holders.

DISTRICT COURT MATTERS

Mrs. Carrievauw Is Granted a Divorce From Her Husband—Order to Show Cause—The Davis Will Case.

Judge Speer naturalized about 50 citizens yesterday and a notable fact was that a very large number of first papers had been issued just a year ago almost to a day. The naturalization records of the district court show that Jacob Zachman, the ex-convict, whom both Judge Speer and Judge Knowles of the United States court refused to naturalize on account of his record, succeeded in securing his papers from Judge McHatton on the 19th, the same day on which he was rejected by Judge Knowles. One of his witnesses was his partner, Frank Gabse, also an ex-convict, and who also fooled the court into admitting him to citizenship. It is stated that both cases were engineered by prominent workers in the A. P. A. Zachman's second witness was one Frank Zimmers.

Judge McHatton yesterday heard proofs in the divorce case of Elizabeth Carrievauw against Alexander Carrievauw, and granted the plaintiff a decree. She testified that they were married at Port Austin, Mich., April 12, 1880. On several occasions she said he beat her and drove her from the house, the last time on June 30, 1888, while they were living at Grand Forks, North Dakota, and she never returned. She has not seen or heard of her husband since that date. At present she is living at Iron Mountain, in Missouri county, where she is supporting herself by running a boarding house.

The order to show cause why the administratrix of the estate of George W. Phillips should not be removed was continued for hearing for two weeks, owing to the illness of Mrs. Phillips' attorney. Judge McHatton announced that he would probably give a decision next Saturday on the petition for a partial distribution of the Davis estate. On the same day he will make a call of the trial calendar and set cases for trial during the first part of November.

On an order to produce authority for acting as attorney for the Massachusetts Loan & Trust company in the suit of George H. Condon against the Street Railway company and the loan company, John B. Wellcome yesterday presented his affidavit and letters from the treasurer of the company showing that his law firm had been duly and properly retained to appear in the case. Thereupon Campbell, counsel for Condon, objected to the showing on the ground that it was not sufficient. Judge McHatton said the court was satisfied that Mr. Wellcome had the proper authority to appear.

Special attention is called to Leys', the jeweler's add on first page of this issue. Thinking to reach the general trade throughout the country and impart an object lesson in favor of gold, the eastern bankers have called in all loans to manufacturers, and consequently a great many have been forced into liquidation and their stock sacrificed to realize on same. Leys, as usual, quick to seize such opportunities, wisely bought a large quantity of jewelry at exceptional reductions and is now offering them to the Butte trade. This is an opportunity that everyone should profit by and purchase with avidity, for when Bryan is elected all business will be booming and no such chances will be had. Leys invites inspection and comparison.

POLITICS

We are not disposed to discuss politics. Our mind is made up. We know Bryan will carry this state, and believe that he will carry the nation. If he does we are sure to have lively and prosperous times throughout the country.

We want to be prepared for the change and be in the van of the procession in our business. To be equal to the occasion we desire to make things lively just now in the White Front Grocery. We propose to turn our stock over in shorter order than ever.

This we will do if eagerness to push things, attentiveness to business, cordial and polite attention to patrons, the offering of the right kind of goods and the naming of prices that is fair and just to the store and patrons can do it.

We feel that we can do this, as we are determined to be right in prices and in regard to quality of goods all patrons say.

If you buy your Groceries at Courtney's they are good.
